INTRODUCTION
As a spiritualist society, the archipelago has a variety of forms of art in culture. One of them is done by the Pengging Community. In a village located in Kelurahan Dukuh, Banyudono Subdistrict, Boyolali Regency, in a public party event called “Pengging Fair”. Where this event is a form of gratitude for the Pengging Society for historical relics including; Umbul Pengging, Cipto Mulyo Mosque by Pakubuwono X, Tomb of Pujangga R. Ng. Yosodipuro and the last Candirejo Market.

Arts is a human effort to find the meaning and value of life. (Karen Armstrong, 1993: 20) Pengging Community Wandering in discovering the meaning and value of life, through folk art activities and Pengging culture. Which event is the Pengging community's activity to harmonize nature, avoiding chaos to achieve harmony. In it, there was not only a folk art event to commemorate the Independence Day of the Republic of Indonesia which lasted for a week with the peak of the event being the last day of this celebration. But also carried out several ritual activities.

During the approaching August, the apem distribution ritual was previously held to commemorate the Sapar month called Saparan. Then a procession of prayer and tahil was held at the Cipto Mulyo Mosque and continued with a pilgrimage at the tomb of R. Ng. Yososdipuro. Then proceed with the Kenduri ceremony and Sanggaran. The Saparan tradition is a reminder of the services of R. Ng. Yososdipuro as a poet, as well as a cleric who spread Islam during the reign of Pakubuwono II. He is known to be very close to farmers, thus influencing the people of Pengging in increasing agricultural output and repelling pests.

The art party activities of the people and culture of the Pengging fair began in 1967. This activity was conceived and worked on by the young generation at that time, in the spirit to love and preserve the culture and promote the region not only through natural wealth but also with art, culture, and heritage. history. Initially, this activity was carried out simply, which was preceded by a cultural rite and a procession of two mountains of apem and only one entertainment stage. Thus, there were more and more visitors coming and Pengging became famous for the Tourism Objects of Pengging Umbul Baths and the Tomb of Poet R. Ng. Yosodipuro. This is a party activity for traders, not only local traders but also from outside areas also helped enliven this event.

Arts and cultural performances are held along Jalan Pasar Pengging and then followed by a carnival event. This convoy started from the Banyudono sub-district office to the front of the Umbul Pengging Tourism Object. The evening continued with artistic entertainment. There are four stages of art, namely; traditional dance stages for adults and children, shadow puppet shows played by puppeteers from Pengging themselves, dangdut and campursari stages and finally the pop and rock bands. Seen here all types of art both modern and traditional can walk together.

As a means of promotion, the Pengging Fair activity which has increasingly advanced over time, starting in 2011 the young initiators and cultivators of this event began using branding by displaying logos and several other visual communication design media as supporting promotional media. Its philosophy and aesthetics are inseparable from the traditions inherent in people's pengging and also their inheritance. The formation of the identity of the Pengging Fair folk party through structured visual elements from the formation of logos and other visual communication design media that are displayed to form aesthetic value is a replica and imitation of natural expressions and the chronology of human civilization that developed in Pengging. This is a media that is full of meaning for the Pengging community in conveying their aspirations socially, economically and psychologically. The symbolic communication made by the Pengging community through the Pengging Fair people's party activities is inseparable from the problems or issues that are being faced by the Pengging community.

According to the culture of pitutur and the belief of the Pengging community, all of these activities take place not apart from the element of the Javanese Single Chess which oversees the geographical activities of the Pengging community through its historical heritage; including pennant or spring water is a symbol of energy sources and natural sources of life, the mosque as a symbol of the spiritual center, the tomb as a symbol of wisdom and market leaders is a symbol of economic activity and as a pillar of livelihood and interaction of the Pengging community (interview 30 September 2018). Allegedly Candirejo Pengging Market is not just an ordinary market, inside it there is also a historical site which is a "Lingga Yoni" in the form of a rice barn sculpture and is trusted by the Pengging community as a generator of energy driving the Pengging economy through market activities inside, which culminates in the implementation of the Pengging event. Fair for the form of gratitude for the people of Pengging. But rumors are reaping the pros and cons that are circulating lately that will be the restoration of Candirejo Market by the Boyolali Regent, which is where the development of the Pengging community from the days of the struggle of the ancestors of the archipelago to the modern era.

Observations were made to observe the form of branding or promotional media that had already existed in the tourism area and the annual Pengging event, especially the visual elements that formed the Pengging brand. Observations were made in a village located in Dukuh Sub-District, Banyudono District, Boyolali Regency. From the observations obtained knowledge about local content that forms Pengging’s identity as a tourist and spiritual area, as well as brand, visual and media strategies in it.

This research uses qualitative analysis. Sutopo revealed that in the process of qualitative analysis, three main components really must be understood by researchers, namely data reduction, data presentation, and drawing conclusions and their verification (2006,113)

Interaction analysis helps researchers to draw conclusions, with several stages (1) data collection or collecting data, data in accordance with research coded, and grouped according to research needs, using memos / field notes; (2) data display or display data, data that has been grouped and then displayed to interact between one data and another data; (3) conclusions, drawing or verifying or looking for conclusions, by juxtaposing similarities or differences to the data that has been the focus of the study; (4) data condensation or deposition of data that goes through the process of selection, focusing, simplifying, abstracting, and / or transforming visible data into field writing, interview transcripts, documents and other documentation material that aims to make it stronger. Of these four things, they are interconnected with one another to form structured, robust data and mutually confirm one data and the other data to answer the problem formulation that has been compiled (Miles and Huberman 2014, 30-33).

LITERATURE STUDY

Alina Wheeler writes in her book, 'Designing Brand Identity': "The meaning of a brand can change according to the context. Sometimes brand as a noun, sometimes as a verb. Sometimes it is the same as a company name, company experience, and consumer expectations." In the general public, brands are popularly considered the same as logos, brands or entity names. All are physical. When in fact the brand is more a summary of experiences and associations of an entity, so it is far deeper than just physical (Surianto Rustan, 2009: 15).
Social identity is part of an individual's self-concept that comes from the effect of perception that is by the urban community in a social group (Turner, John, 1986: 25). Social identity theory introduces the concept of social identity as a way to explain behavior between groups (Tajfel H., & Turner J.C., 1979: 33).

Gestalt is a psychological theory that says that a person will perceive what is seen from his environment as a unified whole (Surianto R., 2009: 48). Developed by Max Wertheimer (1880-1943) and his colleagues, this theory can explain the tendency of perception formed in a person's mind. The principles in gestalt that are widely applied in logos include similarity, closure, ground figure and impossible figure.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Understanding “structure” may be nothing more than a concession to a method. The structure is a term with a very limited meaning and has practiced its characteristic for decades (Levi-Strauss, 1958: 376). The Pengging fair's folk arts and cultural festivals have been in operation since 1967. This activity was initiated and operated by the younger generation at the time as a mediation activity to avoid the G30SPKI conflict. In the spirit of loving and preserving the culture and advancing its area not only through natural resources but also with the arts, culture, and legacy of the heroic history.

Fair folk art Pengging Fair held to commemorate the anniversary of the Independence of the Republic of Indonesia. The event lasts a week with the highlight of the event being the last day of the festival. But there were also some ritual activities before. During the month of August, several ritual traditions were carried out; the aperture to commemorate the month of Sapar called the Saparan event. There was also a procession of the Kenduri ceremony with prayers and tahill at the Cipto Mulyo Mosque. It is followed by a visit to the tomb of R. Ng. Yososdipuro is named Sacramento. The Saparan tradition is a reminder of R. Ng's service. Yososdipuro was a poet and a scholar who spread Islam during the reign of Pakubuwono II. He is known to be very close to the farmers, thus affecting the people of Pengging in increasing agricultural productivity and expelling pests.

Initially, this activity was carried out simply, beginning with the ritual of the cultural club and the aroma of two hillbillies and featuring only one stage of entertainment. With that comes the increasing number of visitors and Pengging is well known for the Pengging Bulldog Tour Objects and the R. Ng's Tomb. Yosodipuro. This is a party of traders, not only local traders but also from outside regions who are also celebrating this event.
Arts and cultural performances are held along Jalan Pasar Pengging and then followed by a carnival event. This convoy started from the Banyudono sub-district office to in front of the Umbul Pengging Tourism Object. The evening continued with artistic entertainment. There are four stages of art, namely; traditional dance stages for adults and children, shadow puppet shows played by puppeteers from Pengging themselves, dangdut and campursari stages and finally the pop and rock bands. Seen here, all types of art, both modern and traditional, can run together.

As a means of promoting the Pengging Fair people's party activities that are increasingly advancing over time, starting in 2011 the initiators and cultivators of this event began using branding. One of them is by displaying a logo whose philosophy and aesthetic value are inseparable from the traditions inherent in the pengging people and also their inheritance. The formation of the identity of the Pengging Fair folk party, through visual elements that are structured to form a logo with aesthetic value as shown at the 2018 Pengging Fair with the theme 'People's Party Sewengi - ing gawe, rame ing adicara'. This is a replica and imitation of the expression of nature (nature) and the chronology of human civilization that developed in Pengging. For the Pengging Community, this is a media that is full of meaning in conveying its aspirations socially, economically and psychologically. The symbolic communication carried out by the Pengging community through the party activities of the Pengging Fair is inseparable from the problems or issues that are being faced by the Pengging community itself, namely the relocation or destruction of some ancient sites in the Pengging Region.

Pengging Fair logo has a shape like a drop of water that falls on the surface of the water. Cone upwards like a temple shape with typography / decorative fonts in the form of tendrils of plants (vines), with the headline 'sewengi - ing gawe, rame ing adicara'. With a golden color ratio in the context of celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Pengging Fair. The gold color has the meaning of achievement, success, luxury, victory, and prosperity, while the red color symbolizes energy, passion, strength, passion, excitement, energetic (Surianto Rustan, 2009: 73). The combination of two-dimensional objects, namely; triangle and circle. Thus forming the character of the cone and curved lines, which form the character of water droplets and water ripples underneath. Like the curved line character that forms a container or bowl that is ready to accept or accommodate the impression of dripping from the water drop object. This is a representation of the Pengging community in gratitude for the harmony and harmony of the Pengging community through its historical heritage to form the character of a 'holopis kuntul baris' society (bebarengan mrantasi gawe/ work with cooperation) (Susilo Budiarto, 19 September 2018).

An identity that is displayed consistently will give a public image that the entity is consistent and professional. From there it is expected to increase brand awareness and positive brand image in the minds of the public. This is the purpose of the visual identity system (Rustan, 2009: 54-55). As a means of promoting the Pengging Fair people's party activities that are increasingly advancing over time, starting in 2011 the initiators and cultivators of this event began using branding. One of them is by displaying a logo whose philosophy and aesthetic value are inseparable from the traditions inherent in the Pengging people and also their inheritance. The formation of the identity of the Pengging Fair folk party, through visual elements that are structured to form a logo with aesthetic value as shown at the 2018 Pengging Fair with the theme 'People's Party Sewengi - ing gawe, rame ing adicara'. This is a replica and imitation of the expression of nature (nature) and the chronology of human civilization that developed in Pengging. The symbolic communication carried out by the Pengging community through the party activities of the Pengging Fair is inseparable from the problems or issues that are being faced by the Pengging community itself, namely the relocation or efforts to exterminate slowly some ancient sites in the Pengging Region.

According to the culture of pitutur and the belief of the Pengging community, all of these activities take place not apart from the element of the Javanese Single Chess which oversees the geographical activities of the Pengging community through its historical heritage; including pennant or a spring is a symbol of energy sources and natural sources of life, the mosque as a symbol of the spiritual center, the tomb as a symbol of wisdom and market leaders is a symbol of economic activity and as a milestone in the life and interaction of the Pengging community (Hantoko, 2018). Allegedly Candirejo Pengging Market is not just an ordinary market, inside it there is also a historical site which is a "Lingga Yoni" in the form of a rice barn sculpture and is trusted by the Pengging community as a generator of energy driving the Pengging economy through market activities inside, which culminates in the implementation of the Pengging event. Fair for the form of gratitude for the people of Pengging. But rumors are reaping the pros and cons that are circulating lately that will be the relocation of Candirejo Market by the Boyolali Regent, which is where the development of civilization of the Pengging community from the days of the struggle of the ancestors of the Archipelago to the modern era.
